FULL STACK WEB DEVELOPER (JUNIOR)

ABOUT ME

Dedicated professional very keen to develop and build new products. I recently became a junior full stack web developer on completion of General Assembly's 3 months' full-time bootcamp (Web Development Immersive).

With a deep subject matter expertise in the banking and finance industry, I have previously worked across back, middle and front offices in a number of capacities, and have been involved in the implementation of new products and new systems. I have strong numeracy skills and substantial experience in decomposing and managing problems and risks.

Today, I am seeking a role where I can make a significant contribution to your business and grow professionally. Used to working under pressure, I am very flexible and happy to be part of a team or work independently, as needed.
